

Junior Cert Science High Achievers

The State Examinations Commission has identified four Moate Community School students as high achievers in Science in the 2017 Junior Certificate Science Examination. Emma Kelly, Colm Shortall, David Healy and Brian Conlon will now participate in the very challenging Science Olympiad to be held in Dublin City University later this month. If successful at this level the students will progress to the EU Science Olympiad later in the year. We congratulate all four students and wish them the very best of luck.
